

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 8, 1895

STRANGE AS it may seem to some people, many of the erroneous ideas the Northern press teaches its readers are derived from Southern newspapers. The recent defeat of State Senator Walton, in the Winchester district, affords a case in point. Virginia newspapers, that certainly ought to know better, attribute his defeat to the fact that the existing State election law bears his name. Now every body at all familiar with Virginia politics knows that nothing could be more grossly incorrect, and that the true, and only, cause of his defeat was the failure of the democrats of his district to oppose the one republican senatorial candidate there with one of their own, instead of with two, those of Frederick and Shen-andoah, the two counties composing the result of the election there is the the district, each having one of their own, thus dividing the democratic vote, and letting the republican candidate be elected, as was foretold. The Walton law, as demonstrated in the most closely contested counties at the late election, is the very best that could Mr. Proctor is preparing bis annual rehave been devised under existing circumstances, and the democratic member of the legislature who may vote for its repeal will deserve no future favors from his constituents.

THOUGH the grand camp of Virginia ex-Confederates recently declared against the monstrous suggestion of some Southern people that the federal government make the scene of the Ap pomattox surrender attractive to North ern visitors, a Richmond newspaper now hopes the general government will make a national park of all the battle- the decline. But it shows that in mone fields around that city, so as to keep | tary as in political affairs the unexpectthe people thereof in constant remem brance of the miseries they and their parents endured during the war between the States. To Southern men who went into the war for conscience sike, and to those whose sympathies are with the South, such a proposition seems positively unnatural. But, as often before said in this column, there is no telling what modern Richmond newspapers may do.

MR. A. J. BOYER, a prominent member of the A. P. A., and editor of their organ, the United American, says the fact that they placed their work where it would do the most good is demon strated by the result of the recent elec-Presbyterian church in Washington, has withdrawn from the A. LYNCH, THE negro ex-member of the U. S. House of Representatives from Mississippi, and, during the Harrison administration, fourth auditor of the Treasury, now, with the natural foolishness of his race, advises the Southern negroes to follow the example of the Know Nothings and the A. P. A.'s. and form themselves into a secret organization for the purpose of gaining their ends. It will be hardly necessary for them to go to that trouble, for with a republican President and a republican Congress, a force bill will be put in operation, and that will give them all they want-at great personal danger, Stern, assistant inspector-general, has however.

SECRETARY CARLISLE went to Massachusetts and spoke there during the last campaign, and the President wrote a letter in favor of the State democratic ticket in New York. The republicans carried both these States by increased majorities. Mr. Carlisle refused to speak either in Kentucky or Maryland, and the President spurned urgent appeals to write to either in favor of their dem ocratic tickets. Neither would be say a word in favor of the democratic ticket in New York City, but, all the same, that city went democratic.

THE RICHMOND newspaper that has opened its vials of wrath upon a partic- the Third Regiment Infantry are not ular one of the two race tracks in Alexandria county, is so ignorant of the geography of that county, that it calls the late arrest of gamblers in the upper end of it, a "raid on Alexander's Island," which is miles away from the scene of the raid, and in an entirely different direction, and with which the arrested parties had no connection, never even going there to see a race.

GOVERNOR O'FERRALL is reported as looking upon the recent defeat of the democracy as a blessing in disguise. Pessibly that is the view the President takes of it, and, if so, it is only natural on record as saying that without knowing any thing about what the President might say or do, he would approve it on the general principle that Mr. Cievefor the Governor to do so too, for he is land is always right.

jority last Tuesday, but the voters of the State, irrespective of party, to their credit be it written, at the same election defeated a proposition to confer the privilege of suffrage upon their women. Bloomers are bad enough, but with suffrage, woman's fate would be sad indeed.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.

J. M. Langston, the negro ex-Congressman from Virginia, now attorney for Waller, the negro ex-U. S. Consul at Madegascar, now in a French prison for breaking the laws of that country, says the only good part of the present administration is the State Department, that the case of his client is progressing favorably, and that he hopes to get a million dollars as indemnity for him.

Among the visitors here vesterday was Congressman Smith Turner, of the 7th Virginia district. He came, seek ing government positions for some of his democratic constituents who have not yet abandoned hope of getting anything from the present administration, but finding none. Senator Blackburn's numerous friends here have abandoned all hope of his reelection, even should the democrats have a majority in the legislature of his State. They say, however, that he will be a candidate for the House in his old, the Ashland district, and that the contest between him and Mr. Breckinridge, who will again be a candidate in that district, will probably be the liveliest one ever made.

very best thing that could have happened to the democrats of that State, and that next year their majority will be larger than ever. It is needless to say he is laughed at for such gabble. He might just as well have said kill a man now, and next year he will not only le port and is so enamored of the service, in which he took the place of the notorious Mr. Rocsevelt, that he will recommend its application to every and all branches of the federal government.

Senator Gray's friends here say it is entirely unnecessary for them to deny that he ever sent such a dispatch to Senator Gorman as that published over his name in some of this morning's

STATE MILITIA.-Colonel Jo Lane submitted his annual report to the Adjutant General, which contains a number of interesting statements. In his report Col. Stern says: The force is 182 less than last year, being 3,006, of which the thirty seven white infantry companies, the five troops of cavalry, and three batteries of artillery, aggregate 217 officers and 2,226 men; an i the nine colored infantry companies, 40 officers and 523 men. Of the whole force, 83 per cent. were present at inspection—a slight gain over last year, and higher than ever before attained. During the year two new infantry compan'es were mustered into the service one at Manchester and one at Fredericksburg. The latter as Company K, of the Third Regiment. All of the force is now supplied with the undress uniforms. The headquarters-books of written up. The colonel commanding stated that no appropriation for that purpose had been made. Steps should at once te taken in this matter. Discipline is generally good.

THE SENATE.-As a result of the late election returns the republi- of the south are so justly proud; therecans gain five United States Senators-two from Utah and one each from Kentucky, Ohio and Maryland, and the democrats lose three Senators one each from Maryland, Kentucky and Ohio. None of these changes be come effective, however, until March 4, 1897, except in the case of the two Utah Senators, who will take their seats as soon as chosen. Thereafter the numerical strength in the Senate will branch of Congress.
